Company's Statement.

The management of the Grand Trunk to-night issued the following statement:

The management of the Grand Italian to-night issued the following statement:

"Messrs. Berry and Murdock, with a committee representing the Grand Trunk trainmen and yardmen, met the officers of the company this morning and advised that they had received the authority of a large majority of our trainmen to order a strike in the event a settlement was not reached with the company. A general discussion of the situation took place, during which we advised them that we were not in a position to do more than had been offered in our former proposition, giving the men an increase of approximately 18 per cent, with the further promise that they should be given the same standard rate of pay as the Canadian Pacific as soon as the Grand Trunk, through its relations with the Grand Trunk pacific, is in a position to participate in the higher rates obtained on traffic in the Northwest. By reason of the completion of that road and the obtaining of through rail conjections between the Grand Trunk and tained on traffic in the Northwest. By reason of the completion of that road and the obtaining of through rail connections between the Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk Pacific, which should be accomplished within two years, it was explained that if there was any question of indefiniteness as to the date when the standardization was to take effect, we would agree that it should be not later than January 1, 1913, or garlier, if the Board of Railway Commissioners, upon hearing the facts in the case, should so determine.

"This was not considered satisfactory, and the conference adjourned until the afternoon, when we were handed the schedule of pay and rules which are practically the Eastern standard.

Could Do No Better.

"The reply was made that we could do no better than what had already been offered, and we had no further propositions to make.

"Should a strike be ordered we feel confident that it will be found that many of the employes of the company in the train service will disregard such strike order and will continue service with the company. We have a large

Norfolk and the two from Portsmouth. Ten days will be spent at the fort in company with the coast artillery officers and men of the regular army stationed there. The encampment will begin on August 3 and end on August 18.

As a matter of course this branch of the service did not take part in the recent camp of instruction at Gettysburg, since it could have had no practice there. It has proved a popular service to the dwellers in coast citles, this being indicated by the success in maintaining two batteries, with a minimum strength of cighty-five men each in Norfolk and Portsmouth, in addition to the field artillery and numerous infantry organizations in the same cities.

Would Be Near Home.

One reason for this popularity is that the men are never likely to be called far from home for active service. While in case of war the Virginia forces might be called to a distant part of the country to protect the coast, it is more probable that they would be stationed at Fort Monroe, where they would be capable of doing better service.

and, in fact, has never had one. Cap-

"In modern political parlance in dealing with the liquor question, prolibition has been regarded as the Very antithesis of license," said a resident of Nashville, Tenn. in this city last night. "But in my State prohibition has turned out to spell license.

"Not, of course, the sort of license whereby saloons are permitted to exist under the law and under local restrictions and regulation, but the sort of license which is the opposite of law I mean the sort of license which is the opposite of law I mean the sort of license which is the opposite of law I mean the sort of license which is the opposite of law of the State. I mean the sore of license which permits the sale of liquor under the very need of asset of liquor under the liquor the very need of asset of liquor under the very accompanie to his home at Houston, later of the next few far. Booker with section of which permits the sale of liquor under the very nose of every citizen; the sort of license which allows the minor and the drunkard and the idiot and the dangerous negro to buy all he wants for the illicit seller of liquor is under no bond, and does not face the possibility of losing his permit if he breaks the law. I mean the kind of license which is teaching every child in Nash ville that laws are made to be broken and not to be obeyed, and which is instilling in the minds of the young an utter contempt for the Legislature and the courts; an education which will be far more dangerous to future generations than the open saleon could ever be; a training which threatens the foundations of government. The time of the best men is much taken up, and in some instances it is difficult to fix dates which will suit them all. There is no trouble, however, about the railroad and steamship companies' ends of the matter, for the conveyances will be furnished free of cost to the State. Senator Owen thinks, however, that he can start the series of farmers' meetings between August 22 and September 1. He wants nothing but the best talent. tions than the open saloon could ever be; a training which threatens the foundations of government.

Law-Breaking Rules.

"These things are fully admitted. Ministers announce the reign of law. lessfiess from their pulpits. Those who were most active in securing the passage of the prohibition law do not deny that its enforcement is a farce. But links end of blaming the failure on the lack of an adequate public sentiment, the Governor of the State gets all the blame. I am not a Patterson man, but I am somewhat tired of the effort being made by the prohibitionists to saddle their own mistake on the executive. Those who stop to think know very well that if public sentiment in the city favored prohibition, the officers would enforce it, no matter what the Governor thought.

"There can be little doubt that Tennessee will abandon the folloy of prohibition. Governor Patterson's mistakes, which are more than serious, may cause the postponement of the repeal of the prohibitory law, but it is certain to come. The Governor is now the strongest handicap to a return of the days of law and of sanity."

Wadesboro, N. C., July 18.—Telephonic advices from McFarlan, fifteen miles south of, here, tell of the shooting of Constable J. M. Sing by Claude Thomas, a negro employed on the construction force of the Atlantic Coast Line. Sing arrested another negro for shooting on the streets, and as he started with his prisoner for the jail Thomas came from the shanty with a pistol and fired five shots. Three of the bullets struck Sing, two going through his abdomen and the other through his thigh. He is not expected to live. Thomas made his escape, but is being followed by a posse with bloodhounds.
